Seating upgrade available from standard to gold class, Anchorage to Denali or v.v. from $102 per person.

Price per person includes: Standard seating on the Denali Star Train Anchorage to Denali return, 1 night at Denali Bluffs Hotel (room only), and 3 nights at a Denali lodge (full board accommodation), guided hiking, use of mountain bikes, park fees and courtesy shuttle transfers.

Within Denali are a few select backcountry lodges that offer comfortable and cosy accommodation in a picture postcard setting. North Face Lodge and Camp Denali have unparalleled views of Alaska's highest mountain, Mt McKinley. Kantishna Roadhouse, located nearly 100 miles into the heart of Denali National Park offers guests rustic and cosy accommodation. Spend days embarking on naturalist led activities that may include hiking through fields splashed with colourful wildflowers, canoeing, mountain biking or fishing. Optional flightseeing across the mountains is also available.

Day 1 Denali Bluffs Hotel

Board the 08.15 train to Denali. Courtesy shuttle to the rustic Denali Bluffs Hotel for overnight.

Days 2-4 Denali National Park

Courtesy shuttle to Denali rail station for the 95 mile scenic bus trip into the park.

Choose from the following lodges: Kantishna Roadhouse

Built on the site of an old gold miner's camp, Kantishna Roadhouse has evolved into a rustic and comfortable modern Alaskan resort. There are 32 cosy cabins with private facilities, a large dining area and resource library. Enjoy guided hiking, mountain biking and fishing.

North Face Lodge and Camp Denali

Situated in the centre of the park, North Face Lodge and Camp Denali are the only lodges with views of Mt McKinley. North Face Lodge has 15 well-appointed guest rooms each with ensuite bathrooms and joined by a common veranda leading to the lodge's sitting room, dining area, and library. Located close by is the more rustic Camp Denali with 17 log cabins set along an ascending ridgeline to take advantage of the surrounding views. Each cabin has an immaculate outhouse, wood stove for heat, and propane lights. Hot showers are available in a separate building close to the main area. From their prime locations, guests have sole access to some of the most wonderful terrain and wildlife opportunities in the park. Activities include guided hiking by staff naturalists, canoeing, fishing and biking.

Day 5 Return to Anchorage

DENALI NATIONAL PARK

This huge national park (6 million acres) is a scenic wilderness with a vast array of wildlife, such as Grizzly Bears, caribou, moose, Dall Sheep, wolves and many species of raptors. It is also home to Mt McKinley, the highest peak in Nth America.

There is only one public road leading into Denali and access is regulated by the National Park Service. Only a few lodges are located within the park, otherwise all accommodation is at the park gate. With private vehicles not allowed, visitors take either the park shuttle or one of the organised tour buses that travel along the park road stopping enroute for photographs and wildlife, before returning to the park gate the same day.

If you would like a more intimate wilderness experience away from the crowds, then we recommend incorporating a stay at one of the backcountry lodges within Denali into your Alaskan itinerary.

Please note: Denali is closed prior to mid-May and after mid-September due to weather conditions.
